June 2019

The beautiful sunshine today makes me believe summer is finally on its way! We are so excited to go for walks and enjoy the fresh air. We will also take the babies outside on blankets in the shade whenever possible.

Please bring us:

- Sunhat
- Light jacket

The developmental milestone for May focused on Communication. I am pleased to report that each of our little ones are communicating right on schedule. And in many cases, with great enthusiasm!

For June, we will focus on Emotional Development. Emotional development basically encompasses your baby's ability to become secure in his or her world. Self-awareness, self-control, and self-expression are the main categories we will monitor.

Please Remember:

Father's and Floats on Friday, June 14 @ 3:30
